

10.15.21

Dear AHS Families,

As a former math teacher, nothing makes my day quite like helping students do their math homework. Geometry, in particular, is kind of my jam. There have been a few times this week where I found myself in the hallway, cafeteria, or a study hall and have come across a student or two working on their Geometry homework. The current unit, Special Angle Pairs, happens to be one of my favorite topics in the course. So needless to say, I couldn't help myself. I sat right down next to these students and helped them with their practice problems. Each time, it was an absolute blast! (at least for me)

We hope everyone in the AHS Family has a wonderful weekend!

Anderson Proud,
Kyle
