Mark and Kym Hilinski founded The Hilinski's Hope Foundation (H3H) in 2018 to honor the life of their son Tyler, who was a talented, kind-hearted and dedicated young man. Tyler excelled at sports, eventually playing football at Washington State University. At the age of 21, Tyler died by suicide.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilinski share Tyler's story as a way to promote awareness and education of mental health and wellness for students across the country. Hilinski's Hope Foundation is focused on educating, advocating and eliminating the stigma associated with mental illness, while funding programs that provide students with the tools and resources that support their mental health and wellness.
